It was Frank Case, manager of the hotel, who played the part of Santa Claus, and he entertained his guests, among them being authors, lawyers, actors, captains of industry and men about town with the fat of the land. The dinner was a real clothing, turkey, ice cream and candy. A towering Christmas tree was put up in one of the private dining rooms where Tommy or the private dining rooms where Johnsy received his guests. At the Vanderbilt Walton Marshall treated his employees to a turkey dinner. At the Knickerbocker, the Astor, the St. Regis, the Waldorf, the Martinique, Belleclaire, Ansonia, Bretton Hall and other hotels there were Christmas entertainments of the most enjoyable kind. The betals were all gayly decorated hotels were all gayly decorated,

Two tons of sugar were used in the candy factory of the Hotel McAlpin for the manufacture of the candy distributed
